EDITORIAL NOTICE CALL FOR MANUSCRIPTS

The Pan-Pacific Entomologist is calling for the submission of quality manuscripts, particularly full length articles. The journal is currently behind schedule and has had fewer than the desired number of pages (100 p.) in issues 66 (1) and 66 (2), due to a number of factors, including a significantly increased rejection rate by reviewers for submitted manuscripts.

Submitted manuscripts should carefully follow the publication guidelines outlined in 66 (1): 1–8. To expedite changes that may be required, manuscripts should be done preferably on a word-processor with a file copy maintained until the article is formally accepted. Due to the current deficit of manuscripts, articles that are submitted in the near future should be publishable in less than one year.

Authors of taxonomic manuscripts should follow the paragraph formats and style layouts shown in current examples of systematics (i.e., Johnson, K. Pan-Pacif. Entomol., 66 (2): 97–125.) because of special changes in format, including the requirements for a diagnosis, a type-material paragraph, and a specific data format for material examined.
